

Terms of Use for WisLawHelp.org

By using WisLawHelp.org (the "Site"), you agree to the following terms. We may update them, and by continuing to use the Site after changes are posted, you accept the updated terms. Please review them periodically.

General Information, Not Legal Advice

WisLawHelp.org provides general legal information, but it is not legal advice. The information on this Site cannot replace the advice of a lawyer. If you need legal advice, you should consult an attorney.

We try to keep information accurate and up to date, but we do not guarantee completeness or accuracy, nor can we guarantee any outcome in your legal matter.

Using this Site does not create an attorney-client relationship between you and WisLawHelp.org.

Wisconsin-based

WisLawHelp.org provides information to help people solve Wisconsin legal problems. Laws vary by state, so the information on this Site may not be right for your state. If your legal problem is in another state, try looking up your state on LawHelp.org.

Referrals and Legal Programs

WisLawHelp.org provides information about legal aid programs and other resources, but referrals are not a guarantee that the program can help you. Each program has its own process to decide if it can help someone.

Any listing of a lawyer or program on WisLawHelp.org does not mean we recommend that lawyer or program. WisLawHelp.org is not responsible for the actions of any legal program, lawyer, or service provider you find through our Site.

Links to Other Websites

WisLawHelp.org links to outside resources for your convenience, but:

- Having those links on the Site does not mean we sponsor, endorse, or are affiliated with or are associated with the creators of the linked sites.
- We cannot guarantee that the external sites we link to are completely accurate, up to date, or that they apply to every situation.
- We are not responsible for the privacy or security of any information you enter on any other website.
- We are not responsible for keeping links secure, accurate or up to date.

Communication and Email Caution

Viewing WisLawHelp.org or sending an email or message to the Site does not create an attorney-client relationship with WisLawHelp.org. Sending a consultation request e-mail through WisLawHelp.org to a lawyer or program mentioned in the Site does not create a lawyer-client relationship between you and the lawyer or program.

- If you are not already a client of a lawyer or program, your email may not be protected by attorney-client privilege.
- WisLawHelp.org is not responsible for lost, delayed, or unencrypted messages.
- Legal deadlines are important—do not rely on email alone to seek legal help.

Use of the Site

When using WisLawHelp.org, you may not:

- Use it for illegal, harmful, or abusive purposes.
- Collect or misuse personal data from other users.
- Use the Site for commercial purposes without written approval.
- Upload or share anything that could harm the Site, such as viruses or malware.

We may remove any content or restrict access if we believe there is misuse.

Limitation of Liability

WisLawHelp.org is provided "as is" without guarantees of accuracy, completeness, or security. We are not responsible for:

- Errors, security risks, or technical issues on the Site.
- Any harm caused by using Site content.
- Actions taken by law enforcement or copyright holders.
- The conduct of other users or third parties.

To the fullest extent allowed by law, WisLawHelp.org is not liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, or consequential damages related to your use of this Site.

Miscellaneous

- These terms are governed by Wisconsin law.
- If any provision of these terms is found invalid, the rest remains in effect.
- Our failure to enforce any part of these Terms does not waive our right to do so later.
